Welcome desk: Volunteers have to arrive at nine. They must check names and explain where to put books. They do not have to lift boxes.

Room team: Volunteers have to move light boxes and put signs on tables. They must not block the doors. A supervisor must approve changes to the room layout.

Zara can speak clearly to visitors, but she cannot lift boxes because her wrist is injured. She could lift them before the injury. She chooses the welcome desk.

At the desk, Zara follows this checklist: first, check the visitor list; next, give each volunteer a badge; then explain the assigned task. If a name is missing, she asks the supervisor. She does not add people to the list without permission.
